THOUGHT OF THE FORTNIGHT

We don't have to engage in grand, heroic actions to participate in the process of change. Small acts, when multiplied by millions of people, can transform the world." Howard Zinn

Dear Parents and Carers

Ukraine Day Next Wednesday

Just to confirm, we will be holding a special day on behalf of Ukraine. The day will be a non-uniform day, and students are encouraged to wear yellow and blue, the Ukrainian national colours. By coincidence, the national Disasters Emergency Committee have also called for schools to hold a special day on Wednesday 16th, with a yellow and blue theme, so we will be demonstrating solidarity with other schools. There will be a cake and sweet sale, and a collection of items for local charities to send to refugee camps and Ukraine. I think everyone is both shocked and troubled by the events in Ukraine, and I hope that the response is good.

International Women's Day at Exeter University.

We were delighted to give our A level Sociology students the opportunity to attend a conference at Exeter University as part of International Women's Day on 8th March. During the morning session our students attended a variety of lectures around this year's theme of 'Breaking the Bias'. Students listened to speakers working in and conducting research into a plethora of areas, including Business and Leadership, Policing, Theology, Healthcare and Education. The afternoon's session focused on Women's Social, Political, and Cultural Voice talks, from lecturers at the university.

Covid Update

Perhaps not surprisingly, covid rates in schools are rising following the relaxation of rules during half-term, and we are no different. However, fingers crossed, the rise has not been as high or rapid as feared. As of Friday morning, 25 students are isolating as well as 5 teachers. Roughly half of the students are in Year 8, although this is not a large enough spike to need further measures introduced.

However, there is still a need for a cautious, sensible approach. Students should be hand sanitising regularly during the day. Students are still encouraged to wear masks. Things in general have improved a lot, but we are not "back to normal".

Covid isolation is also half-responsible for highish levels of staff absence; some colleagues are suffering from "covid-legacy" illness if not long covid itself, others from different things. So, for the last couple of days we have been 15-20% of teachers down; your children may have noted this. Obviously, we do our utmost to make sure classes are covered with the best available provision, although this is difficult as supply teachers are impossible to find. As I said, things are generally improving, but we are having these bursts when we are nowhere near "back to normal". Thank you for your understanding.

Vaccinations against covid will take place on Monday. Around 130 students have been given consent.

Expectations

This week has been significantly better than last. As we try to return to whatever normal was, it is hugely helpful to have students on time, properly equipped, in decent uniform and most importantly ready to learn or at the very least in a neutral state (they're teenagers, after all). We are not unleashing a reign of terror – that is not our ethos, and does not reflect the values of a RRS. However, and it's a big however, this does not mean students should not feel they can get away with things, or the rules don't apply. We prefer to give strong messages, encourage students to behave well and respectfully, talk to them, involve parents as necessary. Lots of things contribute to this: parental support is fundamental. Many of the issues at school over equipment or uniform can be prevented at home. Black shoes should be black, not with white trim. Encouraging students to get the Stagecoach which gets here on time rather than the later one, all these things help. We have continued with the themes around expectations in assemblies this week; as always, 95% of students are fantastic, but it's very important that they do not join the 5% and see that the 5% are being challenged. And thank you to their parents for your support.

Assessments Update

Year 11 students have been wonderful in their approach to this week's assessments, and their behaviour and attitude in exam rooms has been exemplary. Our team of invigilators want me to thank and congratulate Year 11 on their good sense, respect for each other and their excellent manners. I am very happy to do so, and as I attend the start of most exams I can totally back up the invigilators' comments. There are some more Year 11 assessments on Monday and Tuesday, and catch ups on Wednesday.

Year 13 students (and Year 12 students sitting AS exams) have their assessment window from 17th to 22nd March.

The original purpose of these assessments was to provide evidence for Teacher Assessed Grade folders if the summer exams were cancelled, which now looks extremely unlikely. Therefore, the assessments have become valuable as an extra exam practice (Year 13 haven't sat any formal exams due to lockdowns), an indication of current levels, and all the revision done for these assessments is "in the bank".

DLD

Next Friday we hold the first DLD for quite a while. For new readers, a Deep Learning Day is a day on which learning is deeper, because it is a full day on an activity or a theme. The normal timetable is suspended, making it easier to run one or two year group off-site visits without disruption. The DLD on Friday is a mixture of themes connected to Course 42 and Careers. Years 7-9 will concentrate on activities developing core skills, sometimes called employability skills or soft skills. Year 10's focus will be on Careers Education, particularly interview skills. Year 11 will have a hybrid day of CPS (drugs/alcohol education), Science catch-up and some independent study time. Year 12 will attend a UCAS convention, while poor old Year 13 will be doing assessments or revision.

Simon Jupp MP Replies to Amnesty Group letter

Our student Amnesty group wrote to Simon Jupp, our local MP, with their concerns regarding the humanitarian crisis in Afghanistan and whether the government could do more. They were delighted to receive a thoughtful and considered reply. There are several reasons I mention this: the compassion of our students, RRS, the importance of democratic participation, and because it's a good example of students' voices being heard.

Legally Blonde

Rehearsals are ramping up as opening night (29th March) approaches....the set is taking shape....excitement is building....I won't say more for fear of jinxing anything....except many thanks to my colleagues involved, and to all parents/carers of the 75 students involved for your support and taxi services....

Tickets are available from Exmouth Pavilion on https://www.ledleisure.co.uk/exmouth-pavilion/book-now/legally-blonde

Best wishes,

Attendance, Absence and Requests for Absence

Please let the College know of any absence on the first day it occurs. If the absence continues beyond the first day, please contact the College on each subsequent day of absence, too. To comply with safeguarding obligations, we cannot simply assume a student's sickness absence is ongoing; we need to be certain that the reason for absence is due to continuing illness.

If you do not notify the College, then we will make contact with you to identify the reason for absence. This is important as it helps to reduce unauthorised absences and truancy.

Please note, the College may ask you to provide medical proof if a student is absent from College due to illness.

Medical Appointments

We encourage students to maximise their levels of attendance; research indicates a direct link between attendance and examination performance. The timing of many medical appointments means that often students can attend school first, and return afterwards. By doing so, students minimise missed learning whilst keeping their attendance levels as high as possible. Therefore, we ask that parents/carers send their child into school for morning registration, even when a medical appointment takes place in the middle of the morning. Similarly, appointments scheduled for the afternoon should, where possible, be arranged after Period 4 - during lunchtime. Students are encouraged to return to school after a lunchtime appointment, if they can.

Thank you for your support in helping your child maximise their attendance and learning.

For Years 7 - 11 Absences

Please ring: Sharon Leaman/Racheal Long (Attendance Officers) Direct line: 01392 463911 Email: studentabsence@clystvale.org

For Year 12 - 13 Absences

COLLEGE DRESS

Clyst Vale aims to maintain a simple pattern of College dress to promote a clear sense of identity and enable students to come sensibly dressed, at reasonable cost, for a range of learning activities. If a student is improperly dressed, correct uniform will be provided for that day or the student may be sent home to change his/her clothing, at the discretion of the Principal. If parents are in any doubt about the suitability of an item of uniform they should check with the College before buying it.

Uniform for all students in Years 7 to 11
